of the N. Y. Heruid telegraphs to that paper on Monday as follows:

"A letter received here to day from Chicago, from a friendler Judge Douglas, states that the Chicago Trans does not speak the sentiments of Judge Douglas on the Kanasa question. It says that Mr. Douglas will take an early occasion in the Senate to make his sentiments known on that question."

It can hardly be credited that Judge Douglas intends to make a dupe of his organ—to cause it to commit itself against the Lecompton swindle, and then leave it in the lurch. No, he dare not do it.

The Antogonius between the Administration and Governor Walker—Effect in Congress.

Special Dispatch to the New York Times. J.

Washington, Nov. 30.

The interview between the President and Gov. Walker yesterday, resulted in no change in their positions on the Kansas, guestion.

Walkin is immovable in his bold stand for the rights of self government.

The Passident is seriously concerned because of its an acting difficulties, but indicates no disposition to to yield to Walker's views.

The near approach of the meeting of Congress complicates affairs. Orr is the Administration candidate for Speaker of the House. If the President continues firm in the support of the Kansas Convention, the effect it is calculated will be daminging to Orr among the Northern and, and if the Executive finches in the least, the Southern distrust of Orr as a candidate will be greatly enhanced; for, as a matter of course, the Administration Speaker is bound by engagement to support its policy. Orr is now here, electioneering industriously.

**The Cleveland papers complain of the management of the mails of the Eric Railroad. The Harald says the mails from New York have cortificate was "all right." The reply was in the af-firmative, and on yesterday it was presented at their counter, by Mr. Frank, for payment. Mr. Greene-haum sent for Mr. Nelson who caused Frank to be arcested.

Mr. Frank stated that he had until recently kept a saloon in Milwaykre, which he sold, a few days ago, to a man who gave him this certificate in part payment; that he took it to a hank to ascertain its genomences, and the banker telegraphed to Chicago to find out, and afterwards told him it was. This is provably a true statement of the manner in which it came into his possession. The case was continued in order to ascertain the facts from Milwankee.

A Quaeries of Law, Mr. Louis Hebris, beeper of a major bit saloon on West Randolph street, was brought before the police tribunal jesterday, and charged with the violation of an ordinance in giving a concept for the entertainment of the public. It appeared in proof that Mr. Heintz sestablishment is timed up in two parts, separated from each other by a screen, in one of which lager is sold, and in the other of which one plane, two fiddles, and two negroes furnish instrumental and your music, and occasionally a "plantation jig," for the amusement of such as choose to pay ten cents for admittance.

TEL.—A press of other matter crowded out the report of the Committee on Fire and Water, made to the Council at its last session. We find one objection to it, viz: It does not go to the root of the dislonging there without the consent or wishes of his minus.

And with regard to the late great confiagration in our city, your committee have taken especial pains to investigate that matter. They fined that there is some considerable disalistaction manifested against the course paramet by our Chief Engineer in conducting his department on that occasion. Be that as it may, your committee are satisfied, by eccular demonstration, that it was a difficult matter in that occasion to satisfy all who were present and wil nessed that scene.

tylto go on with the assistance extended to them, was unquestioned.

Several heavy failures had occurred in England since the departure of the Fulton, besides a few of minor importance. The continental market affairs were improving.

The political news is of little importance. Another unsuccessful attempt had been made to launch the Levisthan.

The Liverpool provision market was dull, and prices show a downward tendency. The recently reported advances in sugar had been lost and prices closed at about rates current at the departure of the Afr.ca.

The advices from Manchester and the manufacturing districts generally were gloomy.

Money was in active demand, but without any change.

Hallyax, Dec. 2, 10 P. M.—The steamship Japson, from New York for Southampton, put into Queenstown on the 18th, short of coal.
On Wednesday the applications at the Bank of England for discount increased.
The list of failures was seriously extended.
The large gold arrivals were regarded as likely to render any further advance in the bank rates unnecessary. The funds continued firmer throughout the day.
On Thursday there was a decided amendment in all mercantile quarters. No failures were reported.

The Times says, it is understood that the application, which had been made within the last few days by a leading American house to the Bank of England for a large advance in scenritical furnished from the private resources of the firm, has been satisfactorily met; that all the accommodation required will be fully the accommodation required will be fully granted. According to rumor, the requirements of the firm were nearly £1,000,000 sterling; and according to the Daily Near, the assistance received from the bank, after a long deliberation by the Directors, will, it is expected, enable the firm promptly to comply with the conditions under which the advances were made. with the conditions under which the advances were made.

The pressure for money at the Bank was undiminished; indeed, according to some authorities, it was more intense than ever, but the meeting of the directors broke up without any advance of the rates of discount.

Loass on Government securities were in demand at 10 per cent, at Hamburgh the rates of discount reached to 8½. Private letters from Paris describe a better feeling. The American houses were beginning to get remittances, and the situation of the Bank of France was improving. The stoppage of Wolverhampton Bank

The Times' city article of Friday evening notes a steadiness in the funds, which closed at an advance of 1 per cent. No further acrous failures are reported. The only suspension mentioned being that of a firm of whose ultimate solvency there is not apparently the slightest doubt.

Foreign exchanges are improved.

The suspension of J. R. Thompson & Co., largely engaged in the calomel trade expression with the Cape of Good Hope, was announced. Their Habilities are from £100,000 to £300,000.

The rate of discount at Hamburg has again risen to 94per cent.

An attempt to launch the Great Eastern was made on the 19th, and it was found impossible to move her.

Some riotous proceedings had taken place among the unemployed operatives at Nottingham. The windows of some of the provision shops were broken. Meetings were interdicted and special constables sworn in to keep the peace. All was tranquil on Friday.

At a meeting of the bond helders of the Frie Eailroad Company, confidence was expressed in the intrinsic value of the loan and a committee appointed to raise further subscriptions of capital to prevent the forcelosure of the property.

MIGHT The day is done, and the darkness

I see the lights of the village (Heam through the rain and the st And a feeling of antness course o'a That my soul cannot reals:

A feeling of States and longing
That is not akin to pain.
But resembles sorrow only
As the mist resembles rain.

Come, read to me some noem, Some simple and hearfielt lay, That shall scothe this resiless fee And basish the thoughts of day

Not from the grand old masiers

For like strains of martial music Their mighty thoughts suggest Life's endiess tell and endeavor

And to-night I long for rest.

Read from some humble poet, Whose sengs gush from his hea As showers from the clouds of au Or tears from the cyclids start.

Who, through long days of labor, And nights devoid of case, Still heard in his soul the music Of wooderful melodies.

Such songs have power to quiet.
The restiess pulse of care,
And come like the benediction
That follows after prayer,

Then rend from the treasured volume The poem of my choice, And lend to the rhyme of the poet The beauty of thy voice.

And the night shall be filled with much And the cares that infeat the day Shall fold their tents like the Arabs, And electly steal away.

A Sad Story.

Starved Rock-The Indian Legend.

A few weaks since we visited "Starved soung that she did not used any help then, and was getting along very comfortably. She thanked him eincernly for his well wishes and the interview was ended. A few days afterwards the result of the law days afterwards the sweet gestlement addressed her a note in which ha stated his lear that Miss Van Buren had refused assistance from motives of delicacy and on account of his not having been known to her. He assured her that he had been estuated by no selfish or dishonorable design, and in conclusion begged her; if he could be of any aid, to stand upon no ceremony in confessing it. To this, Miss Van Buren replied as before, taking care to exonerate herself to him of any suspicion that his conduct was not creditable to his heart.

suspicion that his conduct was not creditable to his heart.

Thus an acquaintance sprung up between the rich young man and the poor young woman. The former was delighted with his new-found friend. She was pretty, modest and charming. She spoke of her dear, dead mother with a warmth of feeling and pathos of devected love which showed a parity and gatlessness of soul that put to blush the brazen preteness too olten met in fashionable society. And so he told her. They were more and more in each other's society as time passed. A proposition of marriage was made and accepted. But from that time the young man's visits became fewer, and his conduct more and more reserved. To lift the poor girl to the elevation in society which he had attained, chiefly by means of his wealth, would be shocking to his family and degrading to himself. Without a pang, he deserted her, alone in the wide, wide world, with caree a friend. He did more. He basely slandered her good mane, and boasted of a conquest of which he had never dared to hint in her presence. The girl grew despondent, weary, sad. Her healt slowly declined, and last week she died on a broken heart, though the physician gave nome of the name for the disease.

The hero (?) of this true tory is one of the adored leaders of fashion in the city of St. Louis. He attends all the parties where the upper ten meet any chart, and whisper nonsense, and he is daily congratulated by a circle of warm friends, on the very apparent fact that he can "marry any momen he pleases." A few of his boon companions know the little history we have above resorded, and they sometimes joke him on the subject, but the matter is turned of very prettilly and is so nicely dealt with, that the murderers of Martha Van Buren always considers himself complimented.

A Sac Stery.

On Saturday evening last, we were informed of an incident of a most heart rending character, which lately occurred in this city. About three weeks ago a German by the name of Cramer, (as we understood it from our informant,) residing on Broadway, near the city limits, was taken down with the small pox. The physician did not, at first, understand the nature of his complaint, and he was treated for some other disease. He died leaving a wife and four children. Not long after, the woman was taken down with the dreadful malady, and then her two youngest children—one an infant. Every effort, we learn, was made to get a female attendant, by the City Physician—but all in vain! Some promised to go, but none went! A man was hired for the purpose—and from him we learn the particulars which we now give. He found the sick woman and her children alone and unattended, in close, warm room. He endeavored to make them as comfortable as he could; and for the purpose of purifying the chamber, removed the viewe from it. The two children presented a most borrible spectacle. The youngest lay upon its wisk mosther's breast. Its eyes were closed, and its face a putrescent mase! He was compelled to the the hands when not watched, it would rub its forchead, with its tied hands, until it was as black as if charred by fire. The other child was in as hopeless a condition. The man did all he could, we have no doubt, from his manner and promount of the story is yet to be related. Those children is a face was to hold the hands of her infant, and keep it from disfiguring its face—and this she would do even in her sleep. But the saddest part of the story is yet to be related. Those children should do even in her sleep. But the saddest part of the story is yet to be related.
